WITH THANKS TO MERLE ABBOT

A heartfelt thank you to Merle Abbot, a long-standing member of our Cathedral community, for sharing her artwork with us in the Bishop Selwyn Chapel.

It has been a pleasure to see her creativity celebrated in a space that means so much to our community. We are grateful to Merle for sharing her talents with us and for the beauty and inspiration her exhibition has brought to the Cathedral.

GREETINGS • NGĀ MIHI NUI

What if we thought of salvation less as a promise of heaven in the future, and more as God's work of healing in the world today?

In this challenging reflection, Cherokee theologian Randy Woodley invites us to reconsider how Christianity has sometimes been shaped by systems of power and control. Drawing on Indigenous and Hebrew understandings of harmony and wholeness, he offers a vision of salvation rooted in healing: restoring relationships, welcoming those pushed to the margins, challenging injustice and renewing our connection with all creation.

It is a perspective that brings us back to the heart of Jesus' ministry. Again and again, Jesus reaches towards those who are excluded, heals those who suffer and restores people to community. His way is not one of domination, but of compassion; not of exclusion, but of reconciliation.

For us as Christians, this raises an important question: does our faith help to mend what is broken, in ourselves, in our communities and in the wider world? Woodley's reflection reminds us that the Gospel is not simply something we believe. It is something we are called to embody, through acts of healing, justice, mercy and love.

I invite you to read this thought-provoking article and consider how we might become, together, participants in God's work of healing.

With every blessing,

ANNE MILLS

HOLY SILENCE; HOLY NOISE:

A PRE-ADVENT SERIES

7:30pm Mondays 2, 9, 16
November
Bishop Selwyn Chapel

'He came singing love, he lived singing love, he died singing love. He arose in silence. For the love to go on, we must make it our song - you and I be the singers.'

The words of this 1972 hymn composed by New Zealander Colin Gibson are simple yet profound.

Making noise, speaking and singing are defining aspects of our humanity and our worship of God. They are bracketed by silence. In the concluding three sessions of the series 'Holy silence; Holy noise' we will continue our reflections on different aspects of our internal dialoguing within ourselves, our ways of connecting with each other and with God, and our participation in liturgy. As we approach the beautiful, holy and beloved seasons of Advent, Christmas and Epiphany you are invited to spend three evenings considering aspects of our experience of silence, speaking and singing.

There is a strong association between silence and expectancy. In our first session on Monday 2 November we will centre our exploration on Holy silence, particularly in relation to the traditional themes of Advent.

The coming seasons of Advent and Christmas have inspired some of the most beautiful choral music in our long historical tradition. In the second session, on Monday 9, we will consider the "how" of vocal sound. How do we find the ability to voice with resonance and power in ways that enhance the words? We will pay particular attention to carols through history, with a special emphasis on the music of Advent.

In the third and concluding session on Monday 16 we hear from some of the Cathedral's noise-makers, members of the Cathedral Choir. We will consider their understanding of the music they sing, its place in worship, and the selection of music for Advent and Christmas. This will pair with the introduction of a listening calendar for Advent.

THE ANGLICAN MISSIONS

More than half a million Afghans have been forced back from Iran this year, into a country with little to offer them.

Most have been deported with almost nothing, with winter closing in, and aid for returnees running short.

We pray for the Afghan families forced back across the border with almost nothing — for the children, the sick and the elderly — that they would find shelter, warmth and enough to eat as winter closes in.

We pray for women and girls returning to a country that restricts them so heavily, and for women raising families alone — that they would be protected and provided for, and not left behind.

We pray for the aid agencies and host communities stretched thin by so many arrivals, for the funding the response needs, and for compassion from the governments deciding these families' fate.
